

ENGLISH

NAME: Ismael Munene Kwenga.

I am an international student from Kenya. I came to Japan on 4th April 2016. Currently, I am a second year PhD student after completing two year Master course and one year as a research student. I am a graduate of Moi University in Kenya, school of Information Sciences.

My research is on wireless local area network with a bias on channel assignment to WLAN access points to reduce interference for performance improvement.

My supervisor, Professor Nobuo Funabiki is very kind and supportive to all the students. This has created a very conducive research environment for the students and has in-fact attracted very many foreign students. Professor Nobuo Funabiki's good support and guidance to students underscores the successful research undertake by the students.

Our research laboratory, Funabiki Lab (Distributed Systems Design) is very well equipped and we currently have students from over six different countries in addition to Japanese students. It is one of the most international laboratory in the entire university. This has created an opportunity to interact and learn many cultures.

As regards out of laboratory activities, our supervisor and the students usually go for site visits together and indoor and outdoor parties. Okayama University is situated in an area with good weather and the environment is very serene for research.

I would wish to take this opportunity to welcome all new students who would wish to undertake research in Okayama University and in particular to join our research laboratory (Funabiki Lab).

SWAHILI

MAJINA: Ismael Munene Kwenga.

Mimi ni mwanafunzi kutoka Kenya na nilikuja Japan tarehe 4 Aprili 2016. Kwa hivi sasa niko mwaka wa pili PhD baada ya kumaliza miaka miwili ya Masters na mwaka mmoja wa utafiti, chuo kikuu cha Okayama.

Mwalimu wangu hapa chuoni ni mwenye kuwasaidia wanafunzi wake sana na jambo hili limeifanya maabara yetu kuwa na wanafunzi wengi kutoka nchi mbali mbali duniani. Hivyo basi, wanafunzi huweza kusoma tamaduni mbalimbali kutoka nchi tofauti. Isitoshe, maabara yetu inavyo vidhaa vya kutosha vinavyotumiwa na wanafunzi katika harakati zao za masomo.

Mbali na masomo, mwalimu wetu na wanafunzi pamoja huzuru sehemu mbali mbali na pia huandaa sherehe pamoja. Hili huwaleta wanafunzi pamoja na pia huwasaidia kujua mengi zaidi. Chuo kikuu cha Okayama kiko katika mahali ambapo hali ya hanga ni mzuri sana kwa utafiti miongoni mwa wanafunzi.

Kwa kukamilisha, ningependa kuchukua fursa hii kuwakaribisha wanafunzi wote kutoka pembe zote za ulimwengu kujiunga na chuo kikuu cha Okayama na haswa maabara yetu, (Funabiki Lab) kuendeleza utafiti na masomo kwa ujumla.